Behind the “Short Wall”

By Suzanne Edwards

So, you have “awakened “, and the world now looks a lot different than what it did before. Almost as though you were in a deep hibernation state and woke up to find a significantly different reality than when you first fell asleep. You may now look at your family and friends as they speak, and wonder, “What are they thinking?” You may even find yourself distancing from many of your friends who no longer hold your vibration, and starting to attract new relationships into your life with the same energetic frequencies. You may watch the news and chuckle at its absurdity, where you once saw it as truth. You may look at the whole financial and government systems as unjust ponzi scheme while before you may have believed that they were previously your just and valiant protectors. You may begin to change your eating habits craving more nourishing or more vegan style foods. You may become a conscious eater avoiding animal flesh at all cost, knowing that you can no longer contribute to the suffering of our sentient farm animals. You may now see an urgency to try and save the planet and all its inhabitants, while before you may have been more interested in reality TV shows and following the gossip of the Hollywood stars. You may now be more conscious of your bodies’ sensations such as the tingling of your crown chakra and you may even see specs of light frequently around you. You may even start to begin to see signs in nature that you never noticed before. If you’re lucky, you may even come to the greatest realization of all, that, there is no separatism, among humanity. That this separatism was created to keep us fighting one another as our collective unity was seen as a threat to the globalists who stands to benefit from our separatism. As long as we see ourselves as separate from one another we will continue to fight and competitively be distrustful of others and therefore too busy or distracted to see what is happening around us. Further, you may begin to realize everything is energy and that you are ONE with everything and everyone.

So now what? You now know you are one with all that is, yet you still struggle with how to make sense of it all. Sometimes fear comes over you as your new awareness shows you the dark agenda that is unraveling before your eyes. You may find it difficult also to try and maintain a fine balance between judgment of others and acceptance that we are all one. Here is an example, that obnoxious, dense and negative person in your life may make you want to roll your eyes at their comments and to run as far away as you possibly can from them. But wait. He is you and you are him after all. So does this mean you are rolling your eyes and running away from yourself? Well, sort of. On your quest for further enlightenment you do not have to like what that person is saying per se, but you have to try and look at them compassionately and without judgment. Knowing that you are no better than they are and that they are exactly where they need to be right now on their unique soul journey. This can be a hard task, believe I know, as I too struggle with it daily.

Within the New Age movement I often see what I refer to as “an enlightened EGO”. This is the person that believes they are more advanced spiritually than the other and so has this elite’s attitude. Just because you do not want to be around this negative person does not mean that you are elite’s, don’t worry. But thinking you are better than him, does! Likewise, you may now look at the globalists and other powerful people as the enemy. They are not. They too have a role to play in this matrix we call life. As an awakened being you must NOT just reserve you’re spreading of light and love to a select few but you must share it with ALL that is. And this includes what you may label as “the bad people”. This can be very challenging and daunting task, especially when you are aware of dark agenda’s that could cull millions.

Compassion is the key to enlightenment. Imagine for a moment, if you went back in time, and you saw Hitler teetering from his fingertips from a cliff (clinging to his life). At that moment, you think of the atrocities that he has done to humanity, do you let him fall to his death? Do you pull him to safety? Now while this may be a very extreme example to you, it really should not be. Every being on earth is worthy of compassion regardless of what they have done.

This matrix is all but an energy dream. With Actors playing on the light and dark sides if you will. This polarity must exist, so that we can appreciate the light. For without darkness, there is no light. All worthy of compassion. It is normal to fear the dark forces that are all around you. We have been programmed to do so, and it is this fear that has kept humanity in its 3D density for so long. But once you realize that it is all but mere energy, you will learn to fear it less. Fear is a limitation that will imprison you and make you feel very small. I know fear well as I have felt it often. Instead of fearing the dark side, accept it as a player in this matrix. Live your life free of fear. Stand in your own power. Yes, I said power and you have it within yourself. You are limitless and ever expansive contrary to what you have been told. When you realize this wonderful little tidbit, the fear tends to fall away and your world seems a little less frightening and maybe just a little more beautiful.

One thing I must mention though is where I feel the whole “New Age” movement has failed. Too many in this movement have the blinders on. Many sit in the lotus position saying redundant phrases like “Love and Light” and sing “kumbaya”, yet refuse to hear about anything happening in their natural environment stating that these events or occurrences are “negative”.

I believe we need to be aware of the world around us. We are one with it after all. Yet, we cannot allow the negative energies sicken our bodies, nor can we allow these harsh realities to overtake us by preying upon our fears or making us want to take up arms. We must stand behind “the short wall”, observing but not attaching to these events as they unfold. As lightworkers, we must reconnect with Mother Earth and respond to her cries by loving and looking with compassion toward every living being (on or beyond our planet). Entities both “good” and “bad”. No distinction. ALL worthy. We must learn to live in unison with these energies.

What can you do to create a harmonious world reality? Create one for yourself and share this energy signature with all that is. Set the intention of peace, love, compassion and harmony for all that is. Share these secrets with everyone you know, so that they can do the same. Whatever the predominant collective consciousness thought is, is exactly what reality shall be. So ensure that you always chose your thoughts wisely, for they are very powerful.
